The latest comprehensive course material will be provided at the start of the day so that you can keep notes, and a certificate of attendance will be available at the end.

The Hot Seat and Practice Sessions requires your participation in front of others, and some participants can find this intimidating, perhaps because they are at an early stage in their preparation, or because it interferes with their concentration on the day. You may opt out of these by telling the administrators. You will still join the groups and be able to listen to all the questions and coaching, ask your own questions etc. so that you do not miss out.

All sessions are run by interview-experienced Consultants.

It is not permitted to make audio/video/phone recordings of the course, even for personal use.

This is to protect the confidentiality & privacy rights of the other participants and our copyright. The copyright of the material is a legal protection, and materials may not be copied or transmitted, recorded or sold without written permission from us.

Your cooperation and integrity is appreciated.

Refreshments and lunch are provided.

We reserve the right to amend the programme from the one printed above, and all timings are approximate.
